North Bay patrons pitch in $2M for Sonoma hospital

Two North Bay couples — Patricia and Raymond Chambers, who own Lambert Bridge Winery, and Edward and Betty Kozel — have donated $1 million each in recent weeks to Healdsburg District Hospital via the Healthcare Foundation of Northern Sonoma County. The Chambers gave $1 million to help the 43-bed hospital re-open its four-bed ICU, effective Feb. 4, after seven years of closure due to lack of funds. The Kozels' donation funded a new stroke institute, slated to open later this year.
